

QUALITY POLICY

Our commitment

AMH Civil performs planning and delivery of civil construction and industrial buildings for clients including earthworks, stormwater drainage, concrete structures, road pavements, industrial buildings and management of third party subcontractors.

AMH Civil and its leadership is committed to building a company which encourages and motivates our people to develop and improve their skills and capability to deliver service to our clients. AMH Civil leadership is committed to the continuous improvement of quality management and outcomes within the business and resulting from business activities.

Our Quality Management System will establish a framework for the continuous improvement of the efficiency and effectiveness of our products, services, processes.

AMH Civil Quality Management System will be built to meet the requirements of ISO9001, and audited by a JASANZ accredited auditor for accreditation to the standard.

Quality Policy in practice

To achieve this commitment we will:

- Comply with relevant legal obligations, customer requirements and standards relevant to Quality Management system.
- Ensure our Quality Management System is implemented across the business and make incremental improvements to support our strategic direction.
- Establish standards of performance, measurable objectives and targets to monitor and review our success in implementing the Quality Management System.
- Constantly innovate and deliver quality products and services to our stakeholders.
- Provide our employees with opportunities to continually improve their skills, knowledge and experience of quality practices.
- Engage with employees to improve task delivery and work processes and identify opportunities for improvement from the coal face.
- Base our decisions on facts and analysis of data gathered from measurements such as product, process and system characteristics.
- Drive organisational learning through the identification, reporting, investigation and resolution of non-conformances and take action to correct and prevent recurrence.
- Work with all our stakeholders, customers, consultants, contractors and suppliers to ensure consistent quality outcomes.

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'JM', is located above the name Joseph Mansell.

Joseph Mansell

General Manager / Director

AMH Civil